

The Central States Actuarial Forum, an affiliate of the Casualty Actuarial Society, was formed in 2001 to:

- Advance the knowledge of actuarial science as applied to property, casualty, and similar risk exposures;
- Foster education of actuarial students in the geographic area in which its members reside;
- Promote and maintain high standards of conduct and competence within the actuarial profession; and
- Promote good fellowship among its members.

Membership in the CSAF is open to any member of the Casualty Actuarial Society residing or working in Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, or South Dakota. Subscribership is open to professors and teachers of insurance or actuarial mathematics, persons performing work of an actuarial nature, other persons of recognized standing in the actuarial profession, and actuarial students. We do not charge dues for enrollment in our organization as a member or a subscriber. Members are eligible to vote on issues presented at meetings or through email balloting.
