LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT COMMITTEE

CAS STRATEGIC PLAN

FROM THE CHAIR, JIM MERZ

As we enter the doldrums of winter, it is important that we rebuild our efforts to focus on our goals and use all the resources available to accomplish them. We have a clear strategic plan which relies on our extraordinary volunteer leaders and dedicated committee members to achieve these goals. You can learn about the CAS 2021-2023 Strategic Plans in this issue. We need to build skills for the future to enable us to diversify our membership and expand globally to achieve this plan.

Additionally, we must continue to embrace flexibility in this virtual environment to continue to learn. We can read highlights from Bob Conger’s blog posts on the benefits of mentoring for both the mentor and mentee. Finally, I would be remiss if I did not plug another resource. The Chairperson Best Practices is a valuable resource to allow each of us to learn about how best to run our CAS committees. Please use your available resources to help the CAS accomplish our goals.

UPCOMING EVENTS

The nominating committee wants your input in CAS elections. Any member may submit a nomination by February 26 for Board of Directors and President Elect positions. Any Fellow of the CAS may nominate themselves. Submit your nominations using the online form.

Volunteer leaders are key to the CAS future. The CAS 2021-2023 Strategic Plan, which we will build over the next three years, covers the direction for the organization’s continued growth and success over the next three years. The Strategic Plan includes a road map for moving the CAS towards the new Envisioned Future, built around three pillars: success over the next three years. The Strategic Plan includes a road map for moving the CAS towards the new Envisioned Future, built around three pillars: Pillar 1: Diversifying the Pipeline, Pillar 2: Diversifying Globally, and Pillar 3: Expanding Globally. Currently, only 17% of the students taking CAS exams are from outside of North America. The supply of CAS credentialed members to Pillar 3: Expanding Globally.
